FOUNDER AND CEO OF ALNY

A BRIGHTER
TOMORROW
TOGETHER.

I was born in Georgia, in a small city on the shore of the Black Sea — Kobuleti.
A country where the land smells of sun, and people live with an open heart.

From childhood, I felt that one day I would leave. Not because I wanted to run away, but because I knew: something bigger was waiting for me ahead.

It was always important for me to look beyond appearances, to get to the essence.
I don't just live for "work" or "numbers" — people and their fate are what matter to me.

Over time, I came to a simple thought: if you want to change a system — you can't endlessly fight it. You need to create a new one. That's how ALNY appeared.

ALNY was born from the idea of creating the first free economic zone in the world on the internet — a gaming environment where people from different countries can interact, create, work, develop their business, and gain new economic opportunities regardless of borders.

For me, ALNY is more than a business. It is an ecosystem where technology is combined with community, and collaboration becomes a source of freedom.

Freedom is not chaos, but awareness.
Justice is an honest measure between contribution and result.

I create projects not for noise. I strive to build systems that can live and develop even without me.

ALNY is built on faith. Faith that technologies, justice, and spiritual values can exist together and create something truly useful for people.

I am not striving to be famous. I am striving to be needed.
And if, after I'm gone, this continues to help people, it means I did not live my life in vain.
